DISTANT LEARNING CENTER (DLC)

Welcome to the Distant Learning Center (DLC) profile of ICCM. The term DLC came about when the extension school became obsolete in terminology.

The use of the term “extension school” gave the impression that the school was ran independently. The term DLC fit the profile exactly as the wording indicates which is learning from a distance away from the main campus. In the past, the extension school took on a whole new dynamic in education. The accrediting agency that accredited the main campus is usually never privy to the DLC’s action. Thus, by using the terminology DLC we can guarantee that the curriculum at every DLC is following not only the accredited agency but also the main campus.

There are more advantages to being a DLC than being an extension school. In the most southern part of our country this terminology seemed to grab hold and the rest is history. Just as with any other great innovating technique, there is a criterion to be followed to stay within the compliance as a DLC associated with the main campus. Details will be listed on a separate sheet but the main key component and directive of a DLC to stay in compliance is that every DLC must follow the curriculum of the main campus without any deviation.

This will assure that every student who attends ICCM’s DLC Program will receive the same college level education in comparison to any other higher learning institution in the country.

We at ICCM will continue to provide the best quality education that our great nation has provided for the last 248 years.

FINANCIAL DETAILS

It will be determined by ICCM when it comes to the payment and billing arrangements for each DLC individually. ICCM will determine the financial responsibility for each DLC(s) ability and scope of their congregational harvest.

ICCM has determined that the service of receiving a DLC will be $10,000 with the understanding that the final determination of the total cost will be dependent on ICCM's evaluation.

This represents an agreement between International Congress of Churches & Ministers Bible Institute (ICCM) and the Learning Center(s)

This authority to establish a learning center is derived from the parenting school, ICCM. The prerequisite for the creation of a learning center is the payment of an entry fee in the amount of $10,000.00 and Degree Fee. This then gives to the learning center the right and access to the curriculum, logos, and the authority to pursue fund raising under ICCM's 501(c)(3). Grant funding will be made available to the learning center based on the need.

Pursuant to this Agreement, each learning center must adhere to all policies and procedures as set forth by the appointed accrediting commission. Failure to maintain strict compliance could then void all contractual agreements and benefits deriving from ICCM.

Upon agreement of these terms and conditions, a detailed contract will be forthcoming for review and signature.

Yours in Christ,

Dr. H. Michael Chitwood

Founder & CEO of ICCM Worldwide
